Approved March 31, 1885.

Attempted Land Fraud.

A dispatch from Washington regarding the Parala Land Grant, reads as follows:

"A syndicate of New York and Pacific coast capitalists has recently been formed in order to give vitality to an old land claim which was supposed to have been killed by the Interior Department. It is called the Parala land grant, and comprises 4,710,400 acres, equal to 7,360 square miles, an area nearly as large as Connecticut, Delaware and Rhode Island combined, the land being located in the center of the best portion of Arizona. The scheme is being engineered by a man named Reavis, of St. Louis, a cousin of the great capital mover of that name. It was first brought to the attention of the department two or three years ago and was rejected. It is understood that the present motive is to organize a raid upon the Interior Department, backed by some of the wealthiest and most influential men of New York and on the Pacific coast. It will be presented to Congress with a view of securing a sufficient recognition of the claim to have the land surveyed and reserved, which would amount to nearly the same thing as actual ownership. The Government has caused all the old records in Spain and Mexico to be overhauled for evidence of this grant, but none has been found, and it is said to be a thorough fraud."

His Last Hug.

"Talking about funny things," said a big bronzed bearded man the other night, "the funniest thing that I ever heard of happened in my saw-mill. We used a heavy upright saw for sawing timber and one day the men had all gone to dinner, leaving the saw going at full speed. While we were away a big black bear came to the mill and went nosing around. The saw caught his fur and twitched him a little. Bruin didn't like this, so he turned around and fetched the saw a lick with his paw. Result, a badly cut paw. A blow with the other paw produced the same result. The bear was by this time in a perfect fury, and rushing at the saw caught it in his grasp, giving it a tremendous hug. It was his last hug, and we lived on bear steak for a week. When we came in from dinner there was half a bear on each side of the saw which was going ahead as nicely as if it had never seen a bear. This is a fact, so help me Bob," and the lumberman bit off a fresh chew of tobacco.

The Mikado.

In Gilbert and Sullivan's new opera "The Mikado," that ruler of Japan threatens to punish some of his subjects who have, he believes, executed his son, by putting them either in boiling oil or melted lead. A humane sovereign, however, he saw his people suffering, would naturally give them St. Jacobs Oil, the conqueror of pain. It soothes and heals and its name is a household word in every civilized country.

Locating Lands.

The following general information regarding the locating of public lands is condensed from Copp's American Settler's Guide:

The 16th and 36th sections in every township in the public lands in this territory are reserved for school purposes and must be purchased of the territory unless the settler went there prior to their survey in the field, when he can secure title through the U. S. land office.

The filing in the land office of a declaration of entry of a desert land claim must contain a description of the land, by legal subdivisions, if surveyed, or if unsurveyed giving as nearly as possible the locality by reference to known or conspicuous landmarks, that it may be identified after survey is made. Two witnesses give testimony as to the character of the land that it will not, without artificial irrigation, produce any agricultural crop; that no such crop has ever been raised thereon, and that it does not contain sufficient moisture for successful cultivation; that no timber is growing thereon, and that it is non-mineral. The price of desert land is twenty-five cents per acre.

At any time within three years after the date of filing the declaration, provided the United States surveys have been extended over the land, proof may be made that water has been conducted on the land applied for. It must show that the entire tract is irrigated in the cropping season; proof that it was cultivated is not necessary, but it must all be in a suitable condition for cultivation. More conveying the water upon the tract is not a fulfillment of the law, unless in sufficient quantity to prepare such land for cultivation. The entries must be in compact form, not more than a mile and a quarter in any one direction, where 640 acres are entered. Desert land entries are not assignable. A school section while unsurveyed, may be embraced in a desert entry.

Lands bought at private entry may be paid for with cash, military bounty land warrants, agricultural college scrip, supreme court scrip, indemnity land scrip, revolutionary bounty land scrip and certificates of deposit. Valuable scrip, Porterfield scrip, several private act scrips, Sioux and Chippewa Indian scrips and soldiers' additional homestead certificates, will pay for such lands, but as they can be located on unsurveyed tracts, and some of them even on unsurveyed lands, they sell for several dollars an acre. As the only object in using warrants or scrip for private entry or location is that they can be bought of private dealers for less than $1.25 per acre, the minimum price, the high-priced scrips are never used for private entry or location.

Soldiers' additional homestead certificates were given to soldiers, sailors, their widows and minor children, who had made homestead entries prior to June 22, 1874, of less than 160 acres. The certificates were issued for the difference in area between the original homestead entry and 160 acres, and are for from 2 or 3 acres up to 120. The price varies from $13 to $16 per acre. This kind of scrip is used by means of two powers of attorney, one to enter the land under the Soldiers' Homestead Law at a local land office, and the other to sell the land, after it has been entered. This scrip will take any surveyed unsurveyed single and double minimum public land subject to homestead entry. Differences between the number of acres named in the scrip and that desired to be purchased can be paid for in cash.

Valentine scrip was issued under act of Congress of April 5th, 1872, to Thos. B. Valentine. It takes unoccupied, unappropriated, surveyed or unsurveyed, offered or unoffered public land open for settlement. It is in 40-acre pieces and is assignable. It is quoted at about $40 per acre. No settlement or residence is required and there is no limit to the quantity one person may use. The right attaches at once on filing the scrip, and transfers of title for town sites or other purposes may be made without delay. Mineral land cannot be taken with scrip.

TERRITORIAL ITEMS.

Phoenix is producing hogs in large numbers and its exports in this line is making quite an item in the business of the place.

The Postoffice department is advertising for bids on sixty-two mail routes in Arizona, the service to commence on July 1st, 1886.

There seems to be a strong anti-Chinese feeling in Tucson and Phoenix, which is liable to formulate into some definite action.

Mr. R. H. Martin's team passed through Pinal last week with two carloads of Silver King concentrations, worth about $25,000.

A shooting affair occurred at Mineral Park Monday evening between Wm. Krider and James Haas, and is supposed to be the result of an old feud.

The Board of Supervisors of Cochise county have offered a reward of $500 for the Apache Chief Geronimo, dead or alive, and $250 for any of his marauding band.

F. S. Sargeant, formerly of Tucson and now a resident of Yuma, has been elected Grand Master of the National Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, whose convention was recently held in Philadelphia.

Bids for building and furnishing a school house at Solomonville were opened last week, and the lowest was $1,650 by L. E. Solomon. All the bids were rejected as the sum voted and for which a special tax is to be collected is only $1,400.

The Mulligans are taking out and sorting up large quantities of high grade rock from the Flagstaff mine. They now have on the dump about a carload of ore which they will have hauled down to Kingman in a few days and ship to one of the eastern smelters.—Wallapai Tribune.

It seems that notwithstanding the "kicking" of a portion of the territorial press, the erection of an Insane Asylum at Phenix is becoming an assured fact. The Commissioners have adopted plans and specifications for the building and are now advertising for proposals to erect the same. Proposals will be opened on the 19th instant.—Clifton Courier.

The following apportionment of school money for this quarter in Yavapai county has been made on the basis of the number of teachers employed: Prescott having six is allotted $165.90, and Flagstaff two, gets $55.30. Each of the remaining districts in the county employing one teacher is allotted $27.65.

All things considered, the Federal officials of Arizona are poorly remunerated for their services. Our Judges receive but $2,600 per year, when they ought to be paid $5,000. The Governor, $2,600; the Surveyor-General, $2,500; the District-Attorney, a small salary, and if he can make fees to the amount of $3,000, well and good, if not, just what he can earn. The United States Marshal, $300 salary and is allowed to earn $5,500 in fees, which he has to divide among his deputies, reducing the emoluments of the office to a meagre sum, in fact, less than $1,500. The marshal's office is the most poorly paid for the services performed and the responsibilities assumed, than any other Federal office of Arizona. The government in justice to the office ought to pay a salary of at least $2,000 per year to the Marshal, which would insure a living to the incumbent and not as now, simply a name with as little compensation as some justices of the peace.—Tucson Star.

The invigorating and tranquilizing operation of Hostetter's Bitters is most powerfully developed in cases of indigestion. The first effect of this agreeable tonic is comforting and encouraging. A mild glow pervades the system, and the nervous restlessness which characterizes the disease is abated. This improvement is not transient. It is not succeeded by the return of the old symptoms with super added force, as is always the case when unmedicated stimulants are given for the complaint. For sale by all druggists and dealers generally.
